b.) Amendments to the Specification

The brackets objected to by the Examiner are created by the USPTO-provided electronic filing software, and are believed to be a standard feature of that software. Accordingly, no correction is provided.